Who will attend?

The Australian Homoeopathic Medicine Conference (AHMC) is the premier event for new and established homoeopaths. It attracts not only AHA members but also non-members and international delegates as well as practitioners from other modalities who use homoeopathy. The AHMC 2023 welcomes homoeopaths and homoeopathic students from all associations.

The AHMC enables delegates to combine homoeopathic learning with networking opportunities and gives them the chance to purchase the range of products and resources that are available to the homoeopathic industry.

Why delegates will attend

- Continued Professional Development (CPD) is a crucial aspect of Australian homoeopathic registration with professional homoeopaths requiring 20 CPD points per year in order to maintain registration with the Australian Register of Homoeopaths (ARoH). Practitioners from other associations need to fulfil similar requirements for their annual association membership. Professional delegates attending the AHMC 2023 are afforded a unique chance to accrue CPD points.
- Networking
- Education
- Industry products and resources

AHMC 2023 participation forecast

Based on past experience, we expect:

- Up to 220 delegates, many of whom have interests in associated fields such as nutrition, clinical testing and research and other complementary modalities aside from homoeopathy.
- 43% state/ 48% interstate/ 9% international
- 80% established homoeopaths/ 5% students/ 15% other professionals
- 18-24 speakers
- 10-18 Sponsors and Exhibitors
