

Anne MacFarlane

Anne has a passion for homoeopathy and is constantly in awe by what can be achieved using it. She has been in practice for over 30 years and during this time she has studied a Masters degree in homoeopathy and has had the honour of teaching homoeopathy to a new generation of practitioners. Whilst every classical homoeopath faithfully follows the guidance given to us in 'The Organon', she believes being adaptable to changing situations is essential to our survival, on all levels of life.
